ENHANCED VISIBILITY

"The relationship between accounting and operational activities has historically been a "pitch-this-over-the-wall" exercise. There's never enough transparency. But we're changing that with Trintech's solutions. They offer us real-time visibility into these activities that we just didn't have before."

COST SAVINGS

"It used to take 120 employees to manually reconcile Susan G. Komen's credit card transactions, and revenue submissions to the general ledger were often delinquent. With Trintech's solution's powerful matching engine, one person, who spends most of their time resolving a small number of exceptions, now accomplishes this work every day. These savings represent hundreds of thousands of dollars every single year."
